Name: RAHMAN
Nationality: Bangladesh
Program: MSc /PhD: MSc and PhD
Duration of my Studies at Shinshu University:
From April 2011 to September 2016

Why did you choose to study at Faculty of Agriculture, Shinshu University?

As we know that the Bangladesh is the third world developing & highly dense population based country. For the growing nation, protein requirement is mandatory to build-up the healthy nation. Over the last three decades, especially in Bangladesh, Thailand, India and Indonesia poultry industry is growing fast. But, in reply, this level of production leads to a great demand for feed resources, and hence, the industry has encountered the problem of obtaining feasible and adequate feed ingredients, especially protein sources which are import dependent and expensive. Unfortunately, it is extremely difficult to increase the production of such feed ingredients, because of limited land area. So, how do they overcome this difficulty? Development of alternative feed ingredients from domestic unused food by-products which are cheaply and safely available is one of the good solutions. And I believe that Faculty of Agriculture is the right place to do such kind of research, that's why I choose this faculty.

How was your life at Faculty of Agriculture, Shinshu University?

My academic life was simply excellent & enjoyable. All of my lab members were too many cooperative and friendly. Though, from the very beginning, I was in trouble in communication with each other, but finally I did very well. Thanks God thanks Shinshu University Authority to give me this opportunity. I've ever been impressed with my supervisor. He teaches me a lot, even now also. Daily life in Ina, there is another dream life, not only the campus and chugen dormitory boys & girls but also the surrounding peoples are so cooperative and kind to me. It was the most memorable time in my life I passed at INA. I never forget anything what I learned over there.

What is your profession? How do you apply your research or experience at Shinshu University to your current occupation?

At present, my profession is a development project planner and also implementer. There is a room for doing something for the nation. I'm trying to introduce my invented technology to my field.
